NATIONAL
Life Insurance Co
OF THE
UNITED STATES OF AMERICA,
WASHINGTON, D. C.
Chartered by Special Act of Congress,
APPROVED JULY 25, 1868.
Cash Capital, $1,000,000,
PAID IN FULL.
BRANCH OFFICE:
NATIONAL BANK BUILDING,
PHILADELPHIA.
The general business of the Company is transacted to which all general corresponde to be addressed.

OFFICERS:
LUTHER H. CLARK, President.
JAY COOKE, Chairman Finance and Executive Committee.
HENRY D. COOKE, Vice-President.
JASON W. PEET, Secretary and Actuary.

The National Life Insurance Company, National in its character, offers to the People of the United States the benefits of its Large Capital, Low Rates, Prompt Payment of Losses, and New Tables, the most desirable insurance ever yet presented to the public.

The rates of premium being largely reduced, are favorable to the insurance as those of the Mutual Companies, and avoid all the contingencies and uncertainties of Notes, Dividends, Scrip, and Withdrawings which the latter have in connection with the Policy-Holder. The new and attractive tables are the result of which feed only to be understood by the public, such as the INCOME PAYING POLICY & RETURN PREMIUM. In the former, the policy holder has only life insurance, payable at death, but in the latter, after a period of a few years, an income equal to ten per cent. (10 per cent.) of his policy. In the latter, the Company returns to the insured the total amount of premiums he has paid in, in addition to the amount of insurance.

All intelligent persons contemplating insuring in sums of hereafter, the amount of insurance already have called to the special merits of the National Life Insurance Company, and by the liberality of its Policies. Pamphlets and full particulars, and application to the Branch Office of the Company.

OLDTOWN EXCHANGE.
CHANGE OF PROPRIETORS.
The public are respectfully informed that the undersigned have become the proprietors of the
OLDTOWN EXCHANGE,
Hotel. The hotel is conveniently located for business, and during the past season, which has been one of unusual activity, it has been the favorite resort of travelers. It will be found in thorough repair, and in a comfortable condition for the accommodation of guests. The table will be supplied with the best the market can afford, and the bar will contain the choicest liquors and cigars. The proprietors will be in attendance at the depot on the arrival of all trains, and will spare no pains to render the stay of guests pleasant and agreeable.
In connection with the House is a first-class BOWLING ALLEY, DANCE HALL, STABLE, &c.
The Hall, which is large and commodious, and which has been recently refitted, will be found a desirable place for parties, balls, &c., and will be furnished on reasonable terms.
The Livery Stable is well supplied with horses, carriages, buggies, and sleighs, and will be found convenient for those wishing to visit any part of the State, as well as those wishing to transact business in the city.
The patronage of the public is respectfully solicited.

Augusta House,

STATE STREET, AUGUSTA, MAINE.
THIS Modern Built Hotel opens to the Traveling Public on the 1st of April, 1869. Having been leased by the undersigned, and thoroughly refitted and refurnished throughout, it is now prepared to accommodate the public in the most satisfactory manner. It contains one hundred and fifty rooms, single and en suite, with baths, hot and cold water, and all modern conveniences. The rooms are large, airy, and well ventilated, and the table will be supplied with the best the market affords. The bar will contain the choicest liquors and cigars. The office is connected with the Depot by a covered passage-way, so that passengers can reach the house without exposure. The location is central, and the house is easily accessible from all parts of the city. Coaches will be in attendance at the depot on the arrival of all trains, and will convey guests to the house free of charge.
The subscriber, in thanking the public for the liberal patronage heretofore bestowed upon the Augusta House, would say that by strict attention to the wants of guests, he hopes to merit a continuance of the same.

TUESDAY, APRIL 13, 1869.

Cruelty to Animals.

We published the other day, in common with other laws, a very important one for the prevention of cruelty to animals. But as a movement is being organized in this city the more effectually to enforce this humane measure, and as the law in its very nature implies that a certain class of our people must be constrained to exercise kindness for their dumb servants by warnings of punishment, we desire to call more particular attention to its provisions. That most important provision is the following:

SECTION 1. Whoever shall overdrive, overtoil, overwork, torture, torment, deprive of necessary sustenance, cruelly beat, mutilate or kill, or cause or procure to be overdriven, overloaded, overworked, tortured, tormented, deprived of sustenance, cruelly beaten, mutilated or killed, any horse, ox, or other animal, and whoever having the charge or custody of any such animal, either as owner or otherwise, shall unnecessarily fail to provide such animal with proper food, drink and shelter or protection from the weather, shall, for every such offense be punished by imprisonment in the jail not exceeding one year, or by fine not exceeding two hundred dollars, or by both such fine and imprisonment.

Sections 2, 3 and 4 provide that any owner of an animal who shall permit cruelty, or who in the case of age and infirmity shall overwork or abandon it, or shall unnecessarily overload any vehicle by it drawn, shall be punished as stated in section one.

Sections 5, 6 and 7 make it the duty of every railroad company or agent in charge of stock trains, to see that no animals are permitted to be confined in cars for over twenty-eight hours without being turned out for food and water and remain out five consecutive hours. The expense of such duty is chargeable to the owners, and for it the person performing the duty have a lien upon the animal for reimbursement. For violation of these provisions, any owner, agent, company or consignee having charge of the animals shall pay a penalty of $100.

Sections 8 and 9 provide that any person may take charge of an animal abandoned by its owner or improperly cared for, and have a lien upon the same for all expense and trouble, and points out the manner in which such animals may be sold for indemnity.

Section 10 makes it the duty of sheriffs and all municipal officers to prosecute violations of this law, and provides that all fines collected shall be paid over to the town where the offense was committed, and in case a society should be formed in such city or town for the prevention of cruelty to animals, then such fines shall inure and be paid over to such society for the benevolent objects for which it shall have been formed.

The law is potent and cannot be misunderstood. The duties of all parties under it should not be avoided. It is gratifying to know that a large number of our citizens are ready to take the subject in hand. They have formed a society, organized, and will hold a meeting next Thursday afternoon at the Council Chamber for the purpose of perfecting arrangements to prosecute infringements of the act.

It is a lamentable fact that in these days such a law should be necessary, but, no one who observes can doubt it. More especially at this season of the year are inhuman outrages against dumb animals observable. Horses loaded with as much merchandise as is ordinarily drawn when no sleighing is good, are expected to draw the load upon the bare ground, and failing to do it are brutally beaten. Lame, bandaged animals are loaded down with unbearable burdens. There seems to be a constant itching for systematic and heartless prosecutions of beasts of burden. A large portion of mankind appear naturally inhuman and glory in acts of brutality over animals that are scarcely their inferiors. While we deprecate cruelty exercised towards our equals, how much more ought we to discourage cruelty towards beings who cannot remonstrate against our unkindness.

In the name of the generation now coming up, this law should also be rigidly enforced. Examples of cruelty such as are daily exhibited in our streets exercise a baleful influence upon the young. They form fruitful sources of crime. The young heart needs to be carefully and tenderly trained, or cruelty to dumb animals will be the mere stepping stones to enormities such as too often horrify us.

We believe this movement has been favorably inaugurated and we trust it will continue to receive the encouragement it deserves.

The Portland Advertiser says: "We have been surprised to see that one Republican paper in this State has appeared to defend Fenton's silence. If he is innocent, let him show it." We presume that no Republican paper in this State defends any man who is illegitimately assailed, if he declines to defend himself. But in relation to the remark above, the Advertiser should see to the fairness of stating the reasons for such defence, as we have seen no legitimate assault as yet. It must certainly recognize the fact that the fairest reputation may be assailed in such a manner and from such a source as to deserve no reply, and that one's own defence would be evidence of weakness. For example, suppose some individual just escaped from the felon's cell, or who is notoriously a swindler, should make charges against one of the leading and most honorable men of Portland,—would not the Advertiser feel bound to denounce his defence, and would it call for a defence from the assailed gentleman himself? This is just Mr. Fenton's case. The fact should be borne in mind, that when Mr. Fenton was Governor of New York he became by his upright course particularly obnoxious to the rings that fester and swarm about the metropolis. The present attacks originate with one or two of these irresponsible swindlers, men who have only escaped the penitentiary through error, or through well known corruption in the New York courts. No man of respectable reputation has originated charges against Mr. Fenton. Under these circumstances, we simply say that he is not called upon to notice the charges. The Advertiser very well knows that the most innocent man stands no chance in entering a personal contest against the infamous clique who have no regard for honor or law save under restraint.

CANADIAN ANNEXATION. Washington dispatches inform us that the project of Canadian annexation in settlement of Alabama claims with joint consent of England and colonists begins to attract attention in governments and diplomatic circles, and it is by some regarded as likely to become a prominent feature of Gen. Grant's administration. Views expressed on this subject by part of the American press the favorable response of English newspapers, and the demand for annexation among the colonies, especially in Nova Scotia, have encouraged a belief in the feasibility of the scheme if managed with diplomatic tact and careful regard to English honor. Objections to the possibility of its accomplishment and doubts as to the policy and safety of such an enlargement of the Republic are strongly urged by individuals, but it is confidently asserted by others that public opinion is gradually setting in favor of our acceptance of the Canadas should they be tendered by Great Britain as the surest mode of harmonizing the interests and ending the jealousies between the two countries, and affording basis of permanent and cordial peace.

Ah, Johnson don't seem to meet with much success in establishing his martyrdom. He is industrious in spreading his ingenious tale, but the people laugh at his staleness and ask for a text from the never-ending story of his having "been the recipient of official life. Shabby schemer, conjured up a new handle to his name, and emptied but a little old bit to the effect that long ago he paid Brownlow $5000 for helping his paper, and displaying the receipt for the same. Now Brownlow comes out with a cruel statement that the money was never Johnson's to give, that it came from a public fund, and that Brownlow only gave the receipt to Johnson that the money might be properly accounted for. He adds that all the time Johnson posed tropically, never sincerely, with the Tennessee loyalists. And so they can't even let Johnson worship the little gods he is capable of seeing.

Advices from Fort Ellis report that on the 6th a party of ten Indians stole the cattle and horses from a ranche on Dry Creek. A party of fifteen or twenty citizens and four mounted soldiers from Fort Ellis, pursued, overtook and killed nine of them. Private Carbly was killed and two soldiers and one citizen wounded. It is reported that the Kaw Indians have bunged their treaty with the Government and will go on the war path.

Presque Isle, in Aroostook County, is a model town. The citizens are so public spirited that they raised their quota for bounty without asking bounties. It is now out of debt, and at a town meeting voted to raise an elegant soldiers' monument. It decided to offer five per cent of its valuation for the purpose of railroad construction, for which it hopes ere many years to connect itself with Bangor. Aroostook County is certainly the place for prosperous towns.

The imports into the United States from Canada and the British North American possessions on the Atlantic, for the year 1867-8, compared with those of 1866, the last complete year of the Reciprocity Treaty, show the total value under the Reciprocity Treaty, to have been for the last fiscal year—dutiable, $30,569,006; not under the Reciprocity Treaty and dutiable, $6,605,710; free, last fiscal year—dutiable, $24,214,276; free, $4,372,362; amount of duties paid, $8,289,916.

A New York dispatch says: "The armed and fast sailing propeller left here a few days since with guns and war materials and about one hundred and twenty men, all Americans, bound for the Cubans."

The Winterport Railroad.

WINTERPORT, April 10, 1869.

To Editor of the Daily Whig:

Sir:—My attention was yesterday called to the following from the Democrat of this week:

"The Winterport railroad has "turned up." "It is reported that the charter which was "obtained from the last Legislature has been "sold to Mr. Jewett, President of the E. & "N. A. R. R. Of course this is the fun at the "Winterport Jewett boys to kill. Where is Cushing?"

The writers of the above have indeed a grave misapprehension of the status of the railroad. The undertaker is certainly to push out of existence. But a more absurd idea could be well crammed into a short an item as he had succeeded in getting into this; and but few would be curious as to the truth of the statement from parties sincerely interested in the early completion of the road, liable and responsible efficacy to be its own refutation.

The Winterport Railroad is not "consolidated" with the Bangor & Piscataquis, but its prospects for getting down from Bangor to Winterport are brightening daily. Arrangements are now being made by the directors for opening the subscription books to the capital stock; and work will be commenced as soon as a sufficient amount is subscribed to warrant the success of the enterprise. The charter was not obtained from the last Legislature, but was granted in 1867. It has not been sold to Mr. Jewett nor to any other man, nor to any railroad corporation. Nor have any negotiations been had with any parties, directly or indirectly, for its transfer to any other road. Bonafide stockholders, as in it provided.

Had the directors any desire to sell the charter, they have no authority for doing so. They are simply a committee of the corporators who number thirty of our enterprising citizens; and they have no exclusive rights or privileges in the charter above any other citizen, save the right and duty to execute its provisions, providing for the preliminary organization of the corporation, to enable it to secure subscriptions to the capital stock. And when the stock is taken, the charter with all its franchises passes into the hands of the stockholders who have but one duty to perform, to wit: to build the road, and when built they can dispose of it as they see fit. And there is no way by which any particular person can control of the charter, except by subscribing for a majority of the shares in the stock; and to this method I have no doubt, the directors will give their hearty assent, and co-operate with any party who desires to invest to the necessary amount. For if any parties with murder in their hearts expect by "buy to kill," which no doubt is in numbers, it will be somewhat dirty or town's funeral than the town of Winterport, or the directors and corporators of the Winterport Railroad.

A satisfactory answer to the above statement of the writer of the item, may undoubtedly be had, by calling upon the recently appointed Collector of Customs at Puget Sound.

Yours, truly, SEAFORT.

Political and Personal.

A Washington dispatch says Mr. Speaker Blaine leaves for his home in Maine to-day. On his return, at the next session, he will commence house-keeping, and will extend the customary courtesies of the Speakership.

The Herald's Washington dispatch says that to the list of names for the post of Minister to England has been added, within the last few days, that of Ex-Attorney General Wm. M. Evarts. This makes three New Yorkers and three Massachusetts men who are supposed to be in the field, either themselves or through agency of that of their friends, viz: John Jay, Horace Greeley and Wm. M. Evarts, of New York, and J. H. Motley, N. P. Banks and Caleb Cushing of the old Bay State.

Pres. President yesterday sent in to the Senate the following nominations: J. Lothrop Motley, to be Minister to England; Leopold Markbreit, of Ohio, to be Minister Resident to Bolivia; James K. Perrigo, of Maryland, to be Minister to Nicaragua; Wm. A. Pile, of Missouri, to be Minister to Venezuela; J. Russell Jones, of Ohio, to be Minister to Belgium; John S. Orcutt, of West Virginia, to be Minister to Sweden; J. R. Clay, of Louisiana, to be Minister Resident and Consul General to Liberia; C. C. Kirk, of Ohio, to be Minister Resident to the Argentine Republic; Thos. Hubbard, to be Minister Resident to Hayti; Andrew G. Curtin, of Pennsylvania, to be Minister to Russia; John Jay, of New York, to be Minister to Austria.

Gen. Grant Not Afraid of the Ku-Klux. It appears that two American citizens of African descent have been nominated by Gen. Grant as justices of peace for the District of Columbia, that B. F. Bonham, formerly assistant revenue assessor for the First District of Louisiana, belongs to the colored aristocracy of New Orleans, and that C. M. Wilder, nominated as notary for Gen. Grant as justice of peace for the District of Columbia, is also a colored gentleman. These nominations are the first Grant has made in the five months of his administration, and they are in keeping with the views he has always entertained on the question of the equal rights of the black man with the white man in the matter of the franchise, and is a movement which, if carried out, will do more than any other act of his administration to break down the color line that now separates the anti-slavery and the ex-rebel elements of the Republican party. Moreover, Louisiana's Governor Hahn, of Louisiana (black man), unlimited vacation Friday last, recorded in favor of the bill introduced in the Senate by Mr. White, Democrat, to confer the right of suffrage upon the colored people of the State, and Gen. Grant is said to have signified his approval of the bill. Keeping step to the music of his administration, but on the negro question.

Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup.

Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills will cure Consumption, Liver Complaint and Dyspepsia. Take according to directions. They operate on the stomach, liver and lungs in this manner: when the patient has taken a dose of the Pulmonic Syrup the mucous membranes of the throat and lungs are covered with a thin coating of phlegm, which protects the lungs from the irritation of the acrid juices of the stomach, and the Pulmonic Syrup is then in a condition to be thrown off by the lungs. But while the Pulmonic Syrup is doing this work, the Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills must be freely used to cleanse the stomach and liver, so that the Pulmonic Syrup and the food will make good blood.

Schenck's Mandrake Pills act upon the liver, relieving it of its load, causing a healthy secretion of bile, and carrying off the impurities of the blood. Nothing will show what the Pulmonic Syrup will do for you but a fair trial. It has never been known to fail in curing Consumption, even after the patient was supposed to be in the last stages of the disease, when the lungs were so much disorganized that a cough could not be raised, and the patient was fast dying away with Hemorrhage of the Lungs. Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup, Seaweed Tonic and Mandrake Pills must be taken by all who have a cough, sore throat, pain in the breast, or who are spitting blood, or who are troubled with dyspepsia, sick headache, or any disease of the liver, stomach or lungs. FROM WASHINGTON.

WASHINGTON, April 12.

Chief Justice Chase to-day rendered the decision of the United States Supreme Court in the case of the State of Texas vs. Geo. White, John Childes, John A. Hardcastle and others. The original suit was brought by the State of Texas to restrain the defendants from receiving payment from the National Government for certain 5 per cent. Texas indemnity bonds of the United States, which the plaintiff claims as belonging to the State. These bonds it is alleged were sold in 1865 and 1866, by authority of the Insurgent Legislature of Texas, and the reconstructed Government of the State now seeks to prevent the payment of the value of the bonds to the holders deriving title through said insurgent Legislature. Various interesting and important collateral questions are also raised, relating to the jurisdiction of the Court, the ability of plaintiff to sue, &c., &c. The opinion of the Court, which is very long and able, concludes as follows: "On the whole case, therefore, our conclusion is that the State of Texas is entitled to the relief charged by the bill, and a decree must be rendered accordingly."

Commissioner Delano has issued the following order, viz:—

That all commissions of Internal Revenue assessors, appointed prior to March 10, 1866, which do not by their terms, expire before April 30, 1869, shall terminate on said 30th of April, 1869.

The Senate confirmed no nominations today. The session was spent in the consideration of naturalization treaties between the United States and Belgium, Wurtemburg and several other German States. The Dorian Canal treaty was discussed, but no action had been taken upon it.

New York Items, &c.

NEW YORK, April 18.

Henry Arcularius, formerly a prominent Democratic politician of this city, died on Sunday at Port Hudson.

Dr. Edgd. Phillips, formerly of the New York Bar, committed suicide this morning in Brooklyn Penitentiary, where he was confined for swindling.

The Cuban Junta held a meeting at St Julian Hotel today to hear the report of Gen. Ronzo who has just returned from Washington. The report and proceedings of the Junta were kept secret, but it is maintained that a strong expedition in aid of the Cuban revolutionists, has set sail from a Southern port, under command of a distinguished American officer.

In the U. S. Circuit Court a suit was brought today by John and Anna Sperry of Connecticut vs the Erie Railroad Co., to recover the amount of dividends on 4 shares of preferred stock, purchased by them, and to compel said company to make statements of its financial affairs.

Both branches of the City Council today adopted resolutions expressing sympathy with the Cuban patriots.

A suit has been brought in the Supreme Court for the purpose of confirming the American Merchants Union Express Co. in the use of property transferred to it by the Merchants' Union Co.

The Imporialist, a weekly journal recently started here, is about to collapse.

The Anniversary of Henry Clay's birth day was commemorated by a liberal display of bunting.

Brutal Murder.

BINGHAMTON, N.Y., April 12.

This morning Mr. Warren Blanchard was found dead in his house in this city. The usual inmates, consisting of his wife and two girls, had fled, and the affair is involved in mystery. All the doors and windows were fastened from the inside, except one, from which the woman and girls escaped.—His head was found in a brass kettle, and bore marks of a pistol ball. Nothing is known of the matter except that the neighbors heard a disturbance at 5 o'clock yesterday morning, and the report of a pistol, when a man ran out of the house, and the noise ceased. As the house was cleared in disorderly, no attention was paid to the proceedings. They would have left no clear traces of all traces of blood, and there are no indications how the deed was performed.

The Gold Hill Mines, Disaster, Nevada

SAN FRANCISCO, April 12.

The Gold Hill Mines were uncovered today, and no traces of smoke were observed. Lights were sent down and extinguished almost immediately by the foul air. Blowers (several of the mines were kept in operation and steam was turned on, with the expectation of expelling the poisonous atmosphere and absorbing the gasses. Preparations have been made to remove the dead bodies as soon as it is possible to enter the mines. A party of forty descended to a depth of six hundred feet below the level of the mines, but the air extinguishing their lights, they immediately gave the signal to hoist, although not feeling bad air themselves. Great excitement is manifested to ascertain the damage to the mines.

BALTIMORE, April 12

On Saturday night, a meeting of American and Cuban ladies and gentlemen was held at the residence of Mrs. A. Lincoln Phelps, Senors C. M. de Ostaz, vice Presidents, and Senora Morces de Shannon, Secretary of the Junta Patriatica of New York, were present. A committee of Baltimore ladies was appointed to determine the proper action in regard to Cuban sufferers. A branch society in regard to the sick and wounded of the Cuban army, was formed. The meeting was addressed by Samuel Shannon of New York, Hon. C. L. Phelps of Maryland and others.

INDIANAPOLIS, April 12.

The balting members of the House appeared this afternoon and were sworn in.—The House completed its organization by adopting a resolution continuing of officers and employees of the regular session. After passage of the resolution Speaker Stanton tendered his resignation, and George A. Bashkirk, a Republican from Monroe Co., was elected Speaker.

A resolution was then passed postponing action on the 15th amendment until the 11th.

In the Senate there was no quorum until after the passage of the resolution in the House postponing action on the Fifteenth amendment, when the Democratic members appeared qualified and regular business of the session commenced.

Fire in Portland

PORTLAND, April 12.

The building of the Portland Packing Company on Franklin Street, near Commercial, occupied as office and storehouse, took fire this evening, and though promptly extinguished, suffered heavily by fire and water. The building was owned by Rumery & Burnham. Loss probably $40,000—insured $30,000 in leading companies.

The Cuban Insurrection.

HAVANA, April 12.

The Diario reports that insurgents at Sagua have decapitated a girl, and shot two others.

Brig Gen. Paloma of the Spanish army has arrived at Havana.

Captain General Dulce at their recent meeting of officers made a speech in which he highly complimented the volunteers for their services and zeal.

The Diario says the woods surrounding Puerto Principe have been set on fire.

Many small bands of insurgents are operating near Cinco villes. Their numbers are increasing in the vicinity of Santiago de Cuba, and it is supposed they are getting to Cinco villes, where they will mass their forces for their movement; it is thought expiation for the present disappearance of rebels from the jurisdiction of Iguana.

A report was in circulation yesterday that Cespedes had been captured, but it proves to be unfounded.

KEY WEST, April 12.

A private letter has been received here from reliable source in Havana, which says that the government there intends to confiscate property of all suspected parties. The letter urges Cubans now in the United States to stop sending their orders.

Arrest for Bigamy

BALTIMORE, April 12.

D. Hoen, Jr., and B. Hoen, had a hearing before Commissioner Carter, Wednesday, for bigamy, and committed to jail in default of bail in the sum of $5,000 each. The evidence in the case showed that Hoen married his present wife in Washington, D. C., in 1865, and that his former wife is still living in Baltimore. The latter is a very handsome young lady, and is highly connected.

To an Early Swallow.

Ay flieth bird of the air,
If thou dost know, then tell me the sweet reason
Thou comest always early in the season,
To build and pair,
For still we hear thee twittering round the eaves
Before the festive clang of April leaves
Up from their parent hearth to call the flowers,
Where all the rough, hard weather
They kept together
Under their wings for genial hours.

And for a moment still
They o'er thy nest flit to and fro,
And tell me, and I pray thee tell me true,
Is any one of the blossoms for us
That white thou flittest, pleased, to throw
The wings so swift and free in,
Turned downward, quickly slit,
Like furrows in a ground of wheat,

Nay, tell me not, swallow,
But save thy precious way,
And promptly fly and
The tossing of the ruddy blossoms by;
Thy virgious example
Match my foolish, doubting mind,
It is thy large delight to keep open wing
Thy little mouth: thou hast no pain to hide
When thou hast found the open cage,
Poising below, and with most loud odes
Flatterest the hours upon it as it nods,
Because, bird, thou art not of those
Higher and over higher
Into the purple fire
That lights the morning sky, who believe with love
And reckon the birthday of prime fee

But tell me, my gay flutter!
If thou canst trust thy knowledge to any word,
Wherewith to answer—I pray thee, tell me this:
Where gallest thou by night?
Still on the wing,
Silvered to flatterness by every blast?
Nay, as I guess,
Of any alighting spirit
Which sucks as richly rises as the grass
In his furrows; nor, further guess,
Of any who shudders,
Whose tender heart is at rest
Through the dim hollow cells of long Eden lies
After a fatal kiss—wife for and pair
The waterfalls to hear
Clang by their white crests the cold dew beads,
And all the ardent flowers
Shrived tidily away. Pray,
Can any love-torn maiden tell
On such a sinful night, though it not get
Its head and tail right, a single word.

So now, not down, dear bird,
Recently heavily over busy wings,
I know right well thy song has eloquent lore
By its unbroken flow.
Who makes the days about to Easter move
Like gardens round the clock, here's thine thing.

And whether, when the solemn year has run
Its brief course out, and flats away
To find the pleasant summer coming on,
Or whether, when the harvest of the sun
Is ripe, the south, to come up the May,
Does with her soft gate,
And then, from the torment of the day
Till cooler hours, sometime and then
Recruit the joyance over the wood,
As if thy very blood
Were drawn from out the heart of the rose—

Then all to celebrate
And all to praise
The prosel kindness of Heaven always—
Who builds the goldmine, the
So tenderly about the shell—
Thy unclasped homeless feet, and nest together.

All these are the most precious
My little swimmer of the seas of air,
Thou comest, good, daily by one and
And permanently, like all
May learn from thy
That that which make
Is a happy employment.

ALEXANDER T. STEWART. The New York Sun prints the following sketch of Mr. Stewart, [illegible] and [illegible] habits:—

To the mass of persons Knowing Alexander T. Stewart by sight and even this number [illegible] are few to [illegible] simply, a very [illegible] looking man, plainly dressed, [illegible] about the [illegible] evening of [illegible] and [illegible] eight in figure. Light brown [illegible] Little eyes, [illegible] full beard, with [illegible] and white teeth. [illegible] clearness of complexion, [illegible] mouth and [illegible] the pleasant expression of [illegible] are unaided by superior [illegible] Plain clothes, [illegible] hats extra [illegible] and [illegible] and [illegible] head [illegible] [illegible] in his frank, open and [illegible] brow, [illegible] complexion, [illegible] with the ruddy hale of [illegible] and [illegible] feet [illegible] Taken [illegible] handkerchief and [illegible] [illegible] his own clerks, who have [illegible] for years [illegible] have had no more [illegible] of the inner life [illegible] the object [illegible] Busy, [illegible] him only at [illegible] Busy, [illegible] judged him [illegible] other judges him [illegible] devoted [illegible] and [illegible] making; [illegible] perfect [illegible] He [illegible] that [illegible] the employer [illegible] and [illegible] on the principles [illegible] with no [illegible] in the employer [illegible] not to [illegible] those who [illegible] intimately to [illegible] his hours [illegible] and magnificent [illegible] heart.

You have [illegible] employ [illegible] years, but [illegible] scarcely neglected, [illegible] and important [illegible] to one [illegible] discharged.

[illegible] moment again, pleaded the disobliged [illegible]

Rejoined Mr. [illegible] happen, an averted Mr. Stewart

"I beg you [illegible] spoken of my wife and children [illegible] a few days back, still further urged the [illegible] employee. Will you not do it?

No, sir," [illegible] Mr. Stewart; "you have violated [illegible] establishment. You have neglected [illegible] duty. I forgive mistakes, but I [illegible] overlook neglect.

But [illegible] accept the discharge [illegible] employee.

But, continued Mr. Stewart, during your past years of [illegible] while I shall continue yours [illegible] Then, go.

The man went out, his sentence has been [illegible] every day [illegible] there [illegible] others who are [illegible] in the same way.

The Nation [illegible] at [illegible] from the German press [illegible] odd [illegible] the Minister, Thiersson of Germany [illegible] under [illegible] pupil in [illegible] in school, [illegible] the students are [illegible] to deliver [illegible] impromptu [illegible] on a subject selected [illegible] the teacher. The teacher in this [illegible] selected as the subject for declamation the inquiry "What claim has rendered the greatest service to Germany within the past two or four years?" In addition, [illegible] noticeable [illegible] called upon. Mr. [illegible] to speak upon the question. The youth seems to have shown a quiet [illegible] and adroitness worthy of his name, [illegible] mounting the platform amid breathless [illegible] began as follows:

"Not a few [illegible] to render [illegible] services to Germany during the last few years—some [illegible] way home in another. But one man [illegible] settled and deserved [illegible] of us all. [illegible] promoted in a military [illegible] and have furnished [illegible] pupils [illegible] this [illegible] for intercourse [illegible] and, to the satisfaction of his hearer [illegible] that man, the orator continued, is Dr. [illegible] Busch."

Doctor Strousberg [illegible] a highly successful railroad contractor. [illegible] He [illegible] to be imagined to [illegible] anything like what Strousberg [illegible] have followed [illegible] the Grant [illegible] and [illegible] been asked [illegible] the most powerful man in the United States, and answered "James Fisk, Jr."

ADULTERATION AND ITS REMEDIES.—Adulteration is [illegible] the most [illegible] of [illegible] fraudulent remedy [illegible] that [illegible] the imposition [illegible] now practiced [illegible] everything that is [illegible] and [illegible] school be provided with [illegible] and [illegible] of every [illegible] and [illegible] available [illegible] instructed in [illegible] chemical testing and the use of the [illegible] microscope. By this course of instruction [illegible] and [illegible] and [illegible] would [illegible] taught habits of close observation, [illegible] and be able to [illegible] the various [illegible] of food, and could [illegible] to communicate [illegible] to detect [illegible] and [illegible] at once.

This would [illegible] species [illegible] sort of education, which would be full of interest to the pupil, while it would prove highly valuable to the community at large, by making every family [illegible] with the [illegible] and employed [illegible] articles of [illegible] and [illegible] general consumption.

It would be [illegible] by a very [illegible] and instructive [illegible] to [illegible] a class of [illegible] entering the [illegible] school [illegible] laboratory, each with a sample [illegible] something bought at [illegible] grocer's or [illegible] at the [illegible] as a perfectly pure article, and to [illegible] the [illegible] by which the chemical tests [illegible] the [illegible] of [illegible] would make [illegible] impurities and [illegible] in those [illegible] articles.
